First Lady Likes to Play Hookey, Too

MRS. COOLIDGE "DROPS IN" INFORMALLY ON WASHINGTON ACQUAINTANCES, STEWART SAYS; NOT PARTICULARLY NOBBY PEOPLE, EITHER, JUST NICE FOLK.

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Staff Writer for The Star

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26—The president and "his lady" visit nobody—that is, not as official personages. If they sneak out "incog." now and then, to see some friends they happen to know as mere human beings, that isn't anybody's business.

Mrs. Coolidge drops in thus occasionally, in the most informal way you ca nthink of, on a number of acquaintances she has in Washington.

They aren't particularly nobby people, either—just nice folks, not in society or the official "set" at all, that she likes to sit and knit and chat and have tea with. You can see her special secret service man, almost any pleasant afternoon, loafing and talking with the kids in front of a northwest side apartment building where you can rent a suite for $60 to $75 a month whenever you want to consult the janitor about the "Flat to Rent" sign he generally has displayed in his basement window.

• • •

BELIEVE me, many's the high and mighty Washingtonian who'd trade a whole stock of hand-engraved, gilt-edged White House invitation cards for just one such intimate little call as this.

Alas and alack-a-day, it can't be arranged on that basis.

One of the last things the neighbors remember seeing, before the Coolidges left for the Black Hills, was our well-known secret service guy, mooching up and down in front of that distinctly ordinary, run-o'-the-mine apartment shack, one of the first things they noticed, following the presidential family's return to the capital, was that identical sleuth, trying, like any good fly cop, to make himself as inconspicuous as possible in the shadow of the selfsame edifice.

• • •

MR. COOLIDGE appears to be proof against the temptation to play hookey from the White House as his wife does. Frank Stearns and Attorney General Sargent are his only personal cronies and they come to the executive mansion to see him instead of enticing him out, on the "q. t.", to their diggings.

For that matter, his wife's chums lookin on her, too, once in awhile, without the usual White House fuss and feathers, but she likes to get out, as well.

The head of the family never does—to go anywhere—except officially—even for a walk, with the regular presidential retinue. Mrs. Coolidge's secret service man doesn't count as a retinue. He snoops along in the rear, like an everyday pedestrian. Folks who don't know him, but who do recognize Mrs. Coolidge, quite generally imagine she's unattended—and are surprised at it.

• • •

WHEN Mr. Coolidge ventures abroad, he does it as "president. Nobody makes the mistake of supposing he's without a body guard.

There have been presidents who, off duty, like to attend little private parties, which never figured in the newspapers, just as Mrs. Coolidge's informal visits never get into the society columns, but this particular White House tenant either doesn't care for them or has no time to spend that way.

The only visit the Coolidges are on record as having paid, officially, during Mr. Coolidge's term as president, was at the Roumanian legation, when Queen Marie was here. That, of course, was the correct thing, the queen being a royal guest of the country. First she called at the White House, and the White House folks, in due form, returned her call half an hour later.

MRS COOLIDGE "DROPS IN" TO CHAT WITH AN OLD FRIEND.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR ELECTION NOW COMPLETE

Printers Start Work on 146,985 Ballots To Be Used in November

MANY ISSUES LISTED

Courthouse Remodeling and Additional Sewewr Proposals To Come Up

With all candidates and special issues to be voted on in November officially listed with the Marion County Board of Eelections, final arrangements for the election got under way today when the board started printers at work preparing 146,985 ballots to be distributed to the voting booths.

The ballots which include names of candidates for the various offices as well as special proposals to be voted on, are to be printed by the Marion Printing Co., which was recently awarded the contract.

In addition to electing municipal, school and township officials, voters will act on two state proposals, a city bond issue a county bond issue and a special school levy.

Courthouse Proposal

A proposal to remodel the courthouse at an approximate cost of $80,000 will be submitted to all voters in the county. The bond issue required for the improvement would necessitate a special tax levy of .096 of a mill annually, according to calculations certified by County Auditor Earl E. Thomas. The bonds, bearing 4 75 per cent interest, would run for approximately 25 years.

A proposal to issue $800,000 in bonds for enlargement of Marions sewer system would require an average annual levy of 1.048 mills. The ballot listing this proposal will be submitted to voters in the city.

Majority votes are required for both of these proposals.

Mecker School Levy

A special levy of three mills for school purposes will be submitted to voters of the Montgomery rural school district. This levy is necessary, school officials say, to enable the Montgomery school to operate nine months each year. At present the school is operating under a temporary arrangement made possible by teachers and other employes agreeing to wait for their pay until funds are available.

A referendum on the Marshall bill, which relates to compensation of mayors and justices of the peace, is one of the two special state proposals to come before the voters. This bill, enacted by the last legislature, is under fire from opponents who allege that it enables heads of these minor courts to operate contrary to a recent ruling of the United States supreme court.

The second state proposal is an initiated measure providing for a state department to license chiropractors.

List of Ballots

Both of these proposals will appear on one ballot.

Ballots now being printed include: 15,230 for municipal office in the city of Marion; 15,230 sewer bond issue; 15,230 city board of education; 22,780 Marshall bill referendum and chiropractic initiative; 22,780 courthouse bond issue; 22,780 township offices; 9,105 board of education, rural and county combined; 620 special tax levy, Montgomery school district; 3,000 township judicial; 2,500 village offices.

GIRL DIES OF INJURIES IN SECOND FIRE

Two Separate Tragedies Occur Here Within Few Hours Over Week-End; Italian Found Dying on Porch Following Gasoline Blast

POLICE SEEK TO LINK FATALITY WITH EXPLOSION

Mary Alice Tron, 6, Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Tron, 217 Neil-av, Succumbs in City Hospital; Playing with Matches

Burns received in two separate fires within the space of a few hours here Sunday resulted in the death a few hours later of Saverio Cangro, 42, of 204 E. George-st, and Mary Alice Tron, 6, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Tron, 217 Neil-av.

Circumstances surrounding the man's death are mysterious. The child, it is believed, went to her death while playing with matches.

• • •

While playing in a small wooden playhouse, partially filled with excelsior, Mary Alice Tron, six-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Tron, 217 Neil-av, was fatally burned about three o'clock yesterday afternoon. It is believed the child was playing with matches which ignited the excelsior, pinning her in the shed, which had only a small opening. She died last night at 7:45 o'clock at City Hospital.

Thomas Grice, a neighbor, rushed to the scene of the accident and was badly burned about the arms as he extricated the child from the blaze.

The father was at work at the ice plant and the mother, who is ill, was resting in a room at the front of the house, when the accident occurred.

Inhales Flames

The child suffered from inhaling flames and from burns about her face and neck, both arms, chest and right leg from the knee to the ankle. The hair was completely burned off her head and the skin from both arms and chest in the abdomen.

Funeral services will be held at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the C. E. Curtis & Co. Funeral Chapel, in charge of Rev. Irvin Kaufman, pastor of Greenwood Evangelical Church. Burial will be in Marion Cemetery.

The child was born in this city Mar. 12, 1921, and was the daughter of Joseph and Maggie Strine Tron, both lifelong Marion County residents. She is survived by her parents, two sisters, Ruth and Eleanor, and three brothers, Paul, Keith and Walter Eugene, all at home.

Police and fire department officials today were attempting to link the death of Saverio Cangro, 42, who died at his home, 204 E. George-st, Sunday morning, from burns, with the explosion and fire which did damage estimated at $2,000 to an unoccupied house on Kenton-av earlier in the morning.

Cangro had been working in Akron for the last two months, according to his wife, and the first intimation she had that he was in the city, she told Chief of Police Thompson and Fire Chief McFarland yesterday, was when she answered a knock at the door shortly before 3 o'clock Sunday morning and on opening the door found her husband lying on the porch unconscious and with all of his clothing, with the exception of his shoes, burned off. How he received his burns and who took him to his home and knocked on the door after placing him on the porch, is the mystery confronting police.

Has Man Jump

At 2:30 o'clock, one-half hour before Cangro was found on the porch by his wife, persons living in the vicinity of 886 Kenton-av told Fire Chief McFarland they saw a man enveloped in flames leap from the roof of the porch as an explosion rocked the house, and run screaming across the fields toward the Erie roundhouse with his clothing ablaze.

In the excitement which followed the explosion, the victim of the fire disappeared. Later the police traced him across the fields by partly burned garments that he had torn from his body as he ran.

That plans to destroy the house, which is the property of Mrs. Cangro, wife of the dead man, had miscarried resulting in the apparent premature explosion, is an established fact, Fire Chief McFarland said today.

Locate "Plants"

Although the inside of the house was badly burned, firemen were able to locate eight "plants" where gasoline and oil had been placed for the purpose of assisting in the destruction of the house. Three of these were downstairs and five upstairs. The finding of one three-gallon and one one-gallon can which had contained gasoline, strengthens the theory held by the fire chief as to the cause of the blaze.

It is the belief of the fire chief that the firebug had poured gasoline in all eight places before setting the three on fire on the first floor and that the air had become so saturated with gasoline fumes that when he struck a match to light the "plants" on the second floor, the explosion followed. Upstairs windows were blown into the street by the force of the explosion. A similar attempt to destroy the house was frustrated by flames about a year ago, when the discovered "plants" before the house had been set afire.

Mrs. Cangro told police and fire officials yesterday that the home of no reason why her husband should attempt to burn the house, which has been occupied by some time. The deed is fully covered by insurance.

Cangro, whose death occurred about 8 o'clock Sunday morning, had suffered terrible burns when found by his wife, literally on both of his body, with the exception of his feet, and except the shoes the two mentioned when found by his wife and remained covered the time of his death.

SCHOOL GIRL HIT BY AUTO ON WAY HOME

Mary Clara Weiser, 10, Sustains Minor Injuries in Center-st Accident

Mary Clara Weiser, 10 year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Weiser, 108 John-st, sustained minor injuries at noon today when she was struck by a car driven by a man who gave his name as Massey and his address as Lima. The accident occurred as the child attempted to cross Center-st, at the intersection of Center and Sargent-sts, on her way home from Greenwood Street School, where she is a pupil of the fourth grade.

The child started across the street, saw the approaching automobile and was struck as she turned to run back to the curb. Several schoolmates witnessed the accident. Her injuries were minor bruises about her arms and body.

Mr. Weiser operates an auto radiator repair shop at 108 John-st.

NOT CANDIDATE, DONAHEY SAYS

Tells U. S. Senator Dill at Conference; Praised by Westerner

Columbus, Sept. 26—"I am not a candidate for president," Gov. Vic Donahey told U. S. Senator Clarence C. Dill of Spokane, Wash., during a conference at the governor's office here today.

The welfare of the Democratic party was the theme of the conference which was held behind closed doors.

At the close of the conference, Senator Dill informed newspaper men that he had invited Governor Donahey to visit the west and "become better acquainted."

"Alhough he is not known in the west, western Democrats are friendly to Governor Donahey," said Dill.

"The west is dry and will oppose Gov. Al Smith, or any other 'wet' man for the presidency," asserted Senator Dill, who said he did not want to be placed in the position of fighting Governor Smith.

Declaring that, if Governor Donahey was nominated by the Democrats for the presidency," he would add strength to the ticket," Senator Dill said that "any man who has been elected governor of Ohio three times, like Governor Donahey has, is available for the presidential nomination."

Attorney General Turner To Address Marion County Republicans Tuesday Night

Prospective Candidate for Governor Accepts Invitation To Speak at Opening of Series of Pre-election Meetings Here

Edward C. Turner, attorney general of Ohio and prominently mentioned as a prospective candidate for governor next year, will be the principal speaker at the Eagles' Hall on W. Center-st, Tuesday night, at the first of a series of meetings planned by the Marion County Republican Club.

Although Turner will discuss chiefly state issues, especially the question of utility rates, the meeting is designated as the formal opening of the Republicans' fall campaign in Marion County. The campaign will be conducted in behalf of candidates for city and township offices.

Non-Partisan Talk

In announcing the meeting, officials of the Republican organization urged all citizens, regardless of party affiliations, to attend and hear the attorney general's address. Much of his talk, they stated, will be of a non-partisan nature and will deal with questions which have no party significance.

R. E. Prettyman, city councilman, will act as chairman of the meeting, which is to open at 8 o'clock.

Turner's presence is expected to attract a large crowd, not only because of his official position and his availability as a gubernatorial candidate, but because of his recent activity in fighting the Marshall law and other measures to which he is opposed.

Against Marshall Bill

Turner recently stirred up a lively controversy when he spoke at a Kiwanis meeting in Bucyrus and criticized the Methodist conference for its indorsement of the Marshall bill.

This bill, which is represented as being a solution to the problem of fixing compensation of mayors and justices of the peace in Ohio, will come before the voters in a referendum at the fall election.

Turner is giving particular attention to his war on eastern capitalists, who, he asserts, wield a powerful influence in Ohio's governmental affairs. He asserts that through this influence they require people of Ohio to pay exorbitant rates for public utility service. This matter, he indicated in accepting the invitation to speak here, will be one of the main points covered in his address Tuesday night.

The attorney general also is an outspoken opponent of the Ferris law, which permits public utility companies to collect rate increases under bond while proposals are pending before the state utilities commission.

Disaster Occurred Sept. 20 in Isolated Section of China

London, Sept. 26—Five thousand persons are reported to have perished in a terrific typhoon which swept Yunghong, 150 miles southwest of Hongkong, according to dispatches from that city today.

The disaster, according to the reports, occurred on Sept. 20.

According to advices received from Hongkong, a tremendous tidal wave occurred off the city of Yunghong on the twentieth. This was followed by a typhoon of terrific force sweeping in from the sea, in which more than 5,000 are reported to have been killed.

20,000 Homes Destroyed

The storm is reported to have swept away 20,000 flimsy houses. Four hundred junks and sampans in the harbor of Yungkong were destroyed, according to the reports.

The damage from the combined tidal wave and typhoon is reported to exceed $1,000,000.

Yungkong is on the bay of Tonking in the southeastern corner of China. The country is isolated from any large cities, which might account for news of such a disaster not reaching the world for several days.

HEARING DATE FOR CLAIMS SET

Commissioners to Receive Objections to Boulevard Project at Courthouse Oct 11

Date for first hearing on construction of the Vernon Heights Boulevard, which is to extend from the end of the present paving in the Vernon Heights addition west to Delaware-av along the north side of the Harding Memorial tomb, has been set for Oct. 11. The hearing, which will be for the purpose of passing on objections and claims for compensation and damages, is to be before the board of county commissioners. It will start at 10 o'clock the morning of Oct. 11.

Plans for the improvement, one of the most important listed on the county's schedule at this time, were completed by County Surveyor Leavens and filed with the commissioners last week. The original plan was to start the work this year, but it is now doubtful whether this will be possible, county officials stated today.

Two hearings, including the one set for Oct. 11, will be necessary before arrangements can be made for letting the contract.

Estimated cost of the work ranges from $39,480.87 to $62,522.17, five types of paving being included in the specifications on file. The cost will depend upon the kind of paving selected. The five offered for consideration are waterbound macadam, sheet asphalt, Kentucky Rock asphalt, amiesite and Scioto rock.

The boulevard will be 3,566 feet in length. From Delaware-av east to Leetonia-av, in the Vernon Heights addition, it is to be a double line thoroughfare, each 20 feet in width, and from Leetonia-av east to the Vernon Heights paving there is to be a single thoroughfare 20 feet in width. The boulevard is to be curbed and paved over its entire length.

Ditch Important Item

Proposed widening, straigthening and deepening of the Ququa ditch, which provides drainage for an extensive area including part of Vernon Heights and the Harding Memorial site, has an important connection with the boulevard project. Practically the entire boulevard will have its drainage into the Ququa.

Plans for the Ququa work were originally designed with the intention of having the ditch project under way by this time but this was prevented several weeks ago when compensation and damage claims totalling approximately $36,000 were filed in connection with the drainage improvement. This amount was more than the estimated cost of the work.

As a result of the filing of these claims, the commissioners continued the ditch hearing until Oct. 6. It is thought that at the hearing on that date the claims will be properly adjusted so that the Ququa contract may be let in the near future.

COURT RESUMED IN REMODELED QUARTERS

Work Practically Completed; Only Few Details Remain Unfinished

Improvement work which has been in progress at the common pleas court room for several weeks is practically completed and court proceedings are again being conducted in the remodeled quarters.

Only a few finishing details remain uncompleted and the small amount of work to be done will not interfere with handling of the court's business.

As a result of the improvements, the county now has practically new and thoroughly modern quarters for its tribunal as well as a suitable place for its law library.

The courtroom proper is now about half the size of the former room, which was divided by a partition and the rear section arranged for the law library.

The rear half is divided into two stories, similar to the plan that is proposed for the entire building. Should the $90,000 bond issue for courthouse remodeling be approved by the voters in November, an extra floor will be constructed to convert the building into a four story structure.

The judge's office, formerly located in the northwest corner of the third floor, is now more conveniently situated adjoining the courtroom at the south.

The remodeling work was done by John Baldauf & Sons, local contracting firm. All of the work, including redecorating, cost approximately $7,000.

ARREST IN 36 HOURS IS SEEN

"Veritable Arsenal" Found in Home of Friend of Mrs. Lilliendahl

Hammonton, N. J.—Sept. 26—With an arrest predicted within the next 36 hours, the investigation into the murder of Dr. William Lilliendahl, 72-year old physician whose wife is held as a material witness, moved forward with rapidity today.

Principal attention focussed about the finding of a "veritable arsenal" in the home of Willie Beach, 52-year-old poultryman who has confessed sending clandestine notes to the physician's 42-year-old widow, Mrs. Margaret Lilliendahl. The letters were addressed to "Peggy Anderson."

Armed with a search warrant, the police ransacked Beach's home, acting on the expressed conviction of Prosecutor Louis Repetto that the poultry dealer had important knowledge of the crime which he was concealing from the authorities. They found two pistols, both of .32-calibre, and a number of shotguns and rifles.

Soon after Lilliendahl was found shot to death in his automobile on a little-used byway near here, investigators stated the murder had been committed with a revolver of .32-calibre. The weapons found in Beach's home were to be compared today with the bullets taken from the slain physician's body.

Beach's son, Roy, who is 34, claimed ownership of all the guns, explaining he kept the revolvers to protect the home from burglars, and the rifles and shotguns because of his hunting activities.

NEGRO SLAIN AFTER BATTLE WITH POLICE

Fugitive Takes Refuge in House After Automobile Collision

Akron, Sept. 26 — An unidentified negro, apparently about 23 years old, is dead today following a protracted battle with police yesterday.

The man was driving an automobile which collided with a machine driven by J. B. Conway. Conway's car was disabled but he pursued the man in another auto and the fugitive left his own machine and ran.

Reaching the home of C. A. Miller, a policeman, the man broke the glass in the front door and crawled through. There was no one in the home at the time and the man first went to the basement and fired several shots at his pursuers.

When police arrived, he continued shooting and Lieut. Franklin McAllister was shot in the hand during the skirmish. All available police squads were brought up and tear bombs were taken into the house.

Detective Steve McGowan finally found the fugitive huddled in a corner of the attic and shot him. Several policemen were treated in hospitals for illness induced by the tear gas.

WE GAVE MARION 15c GAS

The Law of the Pack

The "Law of the Pack" has been applied against the Low Price Filling Station in the recent attempt to bait us into a price war.

Why do some companies charge 19 cents for gasoline in other locations while selling for 14 cents or 15 cents in Marion?

We think motorists generally realize that if it were not for the Low Price Filling Station the price of gasoline in Marion would still be 19 cents just as it is in other localities.

The Low Price Station introduced a new method of selling gasoline direct from tank cars to consumer, eliminating the added cost of tank wagon service and numerous stations.

Patronize the Station that made low price gasoline possible. How long would gasoline sell for 14 cents or 15 cents in Marion if this station were to be forced out of business?

With the support of the motorists in maintaining a large volume of sales as we have had in the past (125,000 gallons in August) we can continue to give you low price gasoline and lubricating oil.

Remember that with each gallon of gasoline and quart of lubricating oil you get a 1 cent coupon good for valuable premiums.

RUTH SETS BACK HER HOP ACROSS OCEAN

Hopes To Get Away for Paris Wednesday; Weather Unfavorable

[illegible] N. Y., Sept. 26—The New York-to-Paris flight of [illegible] Florida beauty contest was postponed until [illegible] because of unfavorable conditions.

Miss Elder and her navigator, George Haldeman, made a flight over New York yesterday, but Captain Haldeman explained today that it was just a pleasure trip, as the plane—a Stinson-Detroiter named "The American Girl"—had already been placed in perfect condition for the transatlantic hop and had been thoroughly tested. He said, however, that Wednesday was the first day he would consider a start to Paris because of a low pressure area over the Atlantic.

Frances W. Grayson, another feminine aspirant to transatlantic flight honors, declared today that she and her crew, consisting of Wilmer Stultz and Bryce Goldsborough, probably would fly in her Sikorsky amphibian some day this week to Old Orchard, Me., to investigate the desirability of the place as a hopping off place.

BLAST RIPS UP RAIL ROADBED

Huge Sign, "Vivent Sacco and Vanzetti," Chief Clew for Police

Nice, France, Sept. 26—A huge sign, bearing the inscription "Vivent Sacco and Vanzetti," furnished the chief clew today in the police investigation into the attempted derailment of special trains bearing members of the American Legion on their "good-will tour" of Europe.

First attempt occurred near the Golfe Juan Station on the Riviera. Five minutes before the Paris Express, carrying hundreds of legionnaires on the first leg of their tour of amity and friendship through many countries of Europe, was scheduled to pass the spot, a tremendous explosion ripped loose a two-foot section of the track and tore a deep hole in the roadbed.

The night express, however was 11 minutes late, and the break was discovered in time to halt the train and route it over a different line to Nice.

Tracks Cleared

Several hours after the explosion, railroad employes found two great boulders and a pile of sticks and sand on the tracks at Cap Dail, on the main line between Nice and Monte Carlo. In this instance, the tracks were cleared before any damage was done.

Military police dispatched to guard the line immediately after the first bombing, found the Sacco-Vanzetti sign near the spot where the explosion occurred. The police advanced the belief that the attempted outrages were in the nature of a radical "protest" against the reception accorded the legionnaires in Paris. They are connected with recent outrages, attributed to anarchist or communist plotters, which have shaken the Riviera country.

Begin Investigation

An extensive investigation was immediately begun by the police and efforts made to trace the perpetrators of the near outrage through the lettering on the sign.

All trains were rerouted over different lines following the discovery of the plot, and the legion visitors placed under a heavy guard. They were not molested, however, after their arrival in Nice, participating in a parade and other ceremonies with no untoward demonstration marring the proceedings.

PARIS RETURNS TO NORMALCY

Paris, Sept. 26—Paris returned to normalcy today. The few thousand members of the American Legion remaining in Paris have been reduced to the status of ordinary tourists. They are spending their time in sight-seeing and shopping without the obligation of attending receptions, meetings and banquets.

Legion caps still dot the boulevards and the cafes, but so far as the French government is concerned, the pilgrimage is over. Most of the legionnaires have either departed for home or left for other points in Europe on a "good-will tour."

Workmen today began tearing down the huge "welcome" signs and other decorations placed in honor of the visiting legionnaires a week ago.

Man Dies in Columbus Hospital; Patrolman Makes Report

Columbus, Sept. 26—County and city authorities today were investigating the fatal shooting of Cornelius Mahoney, 23, who died at St. Francis Hospital, here today, after being shot in the spine by Patrolman Dan McAllister, Sunday morning.

Mahoney was shot while seated in his automobile. According to McAllister, he had approached Mahoney's auto and ordered him to stop. Instead, the officer avers, Mahoney pulled away from the curb and appeared to be reaching for his hip. The shot paralyzed Mahoney ,and the automobile continued on until it ran into a vacant lot.

McAllister had been called to the neighborhood to search for a drunken man, and told his superiors he was searching for a filling station bandit, after he had failed to find the intoxicated man.

An Outline of Fashion

BEING A REVIEW—IN STORY AND PICTURE—OF WOMEN'S STYLES DURING THE LAST HUNDRED YEARS

This is the third in the series of six articles on the "Outline of Fashion." The previous article covered the "Crinoline Age," ushered in by the ascension of Queen Victoria to the throne of England. Today is discussed the "Age of Innocence," which followed the hoop.

MME. LISBETH
Fashion Expert for Central Press and The Star

WITH the Civil war came the swan song of the hoop. It had, under the influence of Eugenie of France and Elizabeth of Austria, gradually become more sophisticated and more graceful, as the 1866 model shows.

Then a military influence set in—both at home and abroad. The workingman's blouse, immortalized by Garibaldi, was adopted by fashionable women. The Zouave jacket, modeled after the uniform of the crack New York regiment of Civil war fame, was affected by patriotic women.

Close on this came the "Biarritz," the first sport skirt. It was worn short to the boot tops. The crinoline was becoming a back number. The "Age of Innocence" came on.

High Heels Introduced

Just about this time high heels came into vogue. These caused the damsels to tip forward as they walked, in an attitude called the "Grecian bend."

Hats replaced bonnets, and 1870 saw a new emphasis placed upon style. But try as they would, the couturiers of the day couldn't wean their clients from the over-skirted habit.

Corsages of the day were extremely high waisted and seamed and fitted like a basque. Skirts were trained for day and evening and emphasis centered on the ornately flounced or striped underskirt and decorated and much draped overskirt or tunic. This was much "bustled." The "tie back" was noticeable. This was the drawing back of the skirt at the knee-line by tapes fastened to either side of the skirt lining. This drawing in gave the feminine figure the effect of an Etruscan vase.

Much Trimming Used

Much passementerie trimming was used. Dresses for the street inclined to cloth more than silk or velvet, the trained skirt being worn for daytime as well as evening. The wasp waist came after the bustle and was worn with it, the size of the bust being exaggerated by padding.

Hats of this period were tiny and were worn over the forehead or far back on the head. Hair was much puffed and frizzed and was worn long in the back in the form of depending curls or braids and often confined by a net.

Stockings matched the dress and cothurnes were very smart with these. Striped stockings were modish, the stripe running around the leg being considered more elegant.

Before the close of the century, however, the Victorian period was being derided for its grotesqueness and exaggerations of dress. The natural reaction had set in, and with it came gradual moderation in dress.

Washington

Capital Weighs Women as Possible Presidents

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Star Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26—The very presidency would hardly be beyond Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth's reach if she'd go after it.

Washington women political managers are convinced of that.

MRS LONGWORTH

It will be noted that this claim is just the least bit shaded. It would "hardly" be beyond her reach, but still it might be—the merest trifle.

The opinion—with absolutely no strings on it—that one of her sex stands a real chance at the White House yet awhile except possibly, through accident, by way of the vice presidency, is more than I've heard even the most hopely woman politican express up to date.

However, if any women could make the grade, the political sisterhood do believe Mrs. Longworth could—always provided she'd try.

• • •

SHE won't try. She doesn't seem to take the slightest interest in politics—from the woman politician's standpoint.

Not, mind, that she doesn't appear to be interested in politics. On the contrary, she appears to take the keenest interest. Politicians—not women alone, but men, too—speak of her as the wisest political head in Washington.

With her antecedents and brains—oh, WHAT couldn't the women's organizations accomplish with her as a candidate!—so they exclaim.

But indifferent! Gee! that's too mild a word for it. To all practical purposes, she's non-existent. "A total loss!" as one clever woman organizer expressed it, in describing her to me.

• • •

ON the other side of the political fence is Mrs. Woodrow Wilson.

Women Democrats started a mild vice presidential boom for her at the Iowa state fair at Des Moines some time ago. Women's political headquarters' in Washington haven't shown much enthusiasm over it.

Outside the big party committees' women's organizations, these headquarters are non-partisan. Their personnels would jump to attention as promptly at the suggestion of a Democratic as of a Republican woman candidate if they considered her likely to develop into a headliner.

The conclusion is unmistakable that they doubt if Mrs. Wilsons' name can have any very wide appeal.

• • •

MRS. WILSON gives occasional indications that she isn't entirely unconcerned in the march of public events.

When one of the houses of congress is debating some subject concerning which seems reasonable to suppose that the war president would have felt strongly, she generally visits the Capitol Building to listen to it, but she is no regular attendant.

During sessions of the national legislature Mrs. Longworth is rather more faithfully on hand in the senate visitor's gallery—not so often in the hall of the representatives, where her husband presides—than a good many senators.

• • •

MRS. WILSON, besides, leads virtually the life of a recluse. She never is quoted one word, either in print or by word of mouth, on any topic.

Mrs. Longworth, while by no means "in society", has a large circle of acquaintance—highly political acquaintances. No more than Mrs. Wilson does she ever utter a syllable for publication, but the verbal digs she takes—or is supposed to take, for there probably are a lot of them she never thought of—at the nation's public characters circulate extensively in the capital's oral traditon.

If Mrs. Longworth's name had been coupled with a vice presidential candidacy, every feminist political gathering in Washington would be ringing with it. The mention of Mrs. Wilson's is not regarded as apt to signify much.

Toledo Price High

... not be accomplished easily, according to information coming from officials today. It is thought that arrangements could be made to send prisoners to Toledo, but the workhouse management there asks $1 a day for boarding prisoners. This is regarded as unduly excessive. Marion city and county paid the Dayton workhouse 80 cents a day under the contract which was cancelled Sept. 1 when the Dayton management announced that its prison was overcrowded and that prisoners would not be admitted in the future from outside Montgomery County.

Canton has a workhouse but it is reported to be overcrowded leaving little chance of effecting a contract there.

Many of those housed in the county jail are sent up from Municipal court for failure to pay fines, it stated. In most of these cases the offense is not sufficiently serious to warrant workhouse sentences, so that this phase of the problem would not be solved by closing a workhouse contract. The only solution, there officials say, would be to liberate those arrested when they are unable to settle their fines.

Hager was one of the most popular police officials in this section of Ohio and has been closely associated with Marion County officers in his work. County and city authorities from various localities attended the services today.

CEMENT RELATIONS

Lindy and Legionnaires Bring France and U. S. Closer, Says Reed

New York, Sept. 26—The American Legion convention in Paris and the flight of Charles Lindbergh have cemented friendly relations between the peoples of France and the United States, Sen. David A. Reed, Republican, of Pennsylvania, declared today on returning from a month's tour of Europe.

Reed said the "most impressive things about the legion's convention were the dignity of the American veterans on parade and on the streets of Paris," and the cordiality with which they were greeted by the people of France. "The convention," he added, "increased the good feeling and understanding between the two peoples, but I think it will have no bearing on the debt settlements."

YACHT BURNS

Six Men's Lives Jeopardized By Blast After Explosion

Cape May, N. J., Sept. 26—The lives of J. W. Valiant, wealthy resident of Baltimore, Md., four male guests, and a negro steward, were jeopardized when flames, believed today to have been caused by an explosion, practically destroyed "The Dog Jewel," Valiant's $50,000 yacht, in Grassy Sound, off Stone Harbor. The six men got into a tender and went ashore, while members of the Stone Harbor coast guard station tried ineffectually to save the burning yacht.

PURSUIT MOVIE EPISODE RIVAL

Three High-Powered Cars Figure in Thrilling Chase; Quarry Escapes

A scene rivalling the most thrilling movie episode on record was enacted on E. Center-st about 8 o'clock Saturday night with Sheriff James A. Deal, Deputy Sheriff Vane Ireland J. W. Clemens and a man for whom the officers held a warrant as the star performers.

It was a wild west pursuit replete with melodramatic features but with three modern high-power automobiles taking place of horses as the means of transportation.

The chase, which started in the uptown district, ended near the intersection of Uhler-av and Center-st when the automobile carrying Sheriff Deal was forced to swerve from the street to avoid crashing into another car.

Name Kept Secret

The fugitive, whose name was not divulged by the sheriff, proceeded east on the Harding Highway and made his escape. His identity will not be made known, Deal said, while the search for him is in progress. He has been sought by local authorities for about two weeks and it is thought his capture will be effected soon.

Deal, in a car piloted by Clemens, proprietor of the Standard Auto Parts Co., 183 E. Center-st was pressing close upon the fugitive's machine when another car came out of Uhler-av directly in front of the sheriff. Clemens missed the Uhler-av machine only a few inches, turning to one side and barely avoiding a collision with a tree as his car went over the curbing. Both Clemens and the sheriff escaped without injury and the car was not damaged.

Gives Up Chase

Ireland, who had been following immediately behind Clemens and the sheriff, brought his machine to a halt temporarily and after ascertaining that Deal and Clemens were uninjured, continued in pursuit of the fugitive. He drove several miles east on the Harding Highway and gave up the chase after finding that his man had disappeared.

Deal and Ireland were standing at the corner of Main and Center-sts when they first caught sight of the man they were after driving east on Center. Believing that he would be halted by traffic lights, they started after him on foot.

The traffic lights were with him, however, and he gradually moved away from his pursuers.

Clemens Car Offered

Ireland then started for the county jail to get his car while Deal continued the pursuit on foot. A short distance east of State-st he met Clemens, who offered the use of his car. From that point the race was a close one until Uhler-av was reached.

Ireland, after getting his machine, followed only a short distance behind the Clemens car.

NEARLY SCORE DIE IN EUROPEAN FLOOD

Thousands Homeless in Western Austria, Switzerland and Liechtenstein

Vienna, Sept. 26—Nearly a score of persons are dead, thousands are homeless and vast property damage was done in western Austria, eastern Switzerland and in the principality of Liechtenstein today, as cloudbursts and floods swept over the region.

Nine or more are dead in the cantons of Grissons and St. Gallons, Switzerland, where the Rhine River was flooding the country. Eight persons were killed at Innsbruck, Austria, by a cloudburst.

Five thousand or more persons in Liechtenstein are homeless by the Rhine flood waters. Local army and police forces were inadequate to cope with the situation, so that a call for help was sent to Austria.

Great property damage was reported from the entire area. The village of Rickenberg, Switzerland, was inundated by a flood of mud.

Railway, telephone, telegraph and other means of communication were interrupted, rendering difficult any adequate survey of the loss of life and property damage in the affected areas.

ACTION HALTED

"Marrying Parson" May Never Go South To Face Bigamy Charge

Grand Rapids, Mich., Sept. 26—Possibility that Rev. Willis J. Jordan, the marrying minister of Columbus, Ga., may never be returned to Charlotte, N. C., to face a charge of bigamy preferred by Mrs. Emma Landridge Jordan, was voiced here today by Supt. of Police A. A. Carrol.

A telegram from the southern authorities informed Superintendent Carroll that lack of funds may prevent Jordan's return there. The police chief has asked the Charlotte authorities to hurry the return of the minister.

Jordan continued today to declare his innocence. He was reticent on the subject of Mrs. Landridge, stating he had never heard of her.

MURDER TRIAL RUSHED

Leonardtown, Md., Sept. 26—Trial of the four federal dry agents, charged with first degree murder in the killing of Charles Gundlach, 77-year-old farmer, during a raid, may begin in federal court in Baltimore this week. The case was transferred from state to federal court and efforts will be made to expedite it.

WOULD SELL BONDS

Washington, Sept. 26—The Mobile & Ohio Railroad, a subsidiary of the Southern, today asked the Interstate Commerce Commission for authority to issue and sell $12,579,000 of 5½ per cent refunding and improvement gold bonds.

Page Mister Webster! 1928 Campus Talk Bewildering

MARY— YOU'RE MRS. ASTOR'S PLUSH HORSE AND I LOVE YOU THAT GENT'S A WASHOUT!
A SIT BY THE FIRESIDE
THE LATEST IN CAMPUS COATS
UP-TO-THE-MINUTE STUFF FOR GENTS
ONE MORE REMARK AND I'LL GIVE YOU A SWELL ELEGANT BOP IN TH' EYE!
OH DEAR!— MINNIE WRITES SHE'S BEEN TO SIX DAMMATORY BRAWLS— ISN'T THAT DEGRADING!
SCOTT

CHICAGO, Sept. There's a lot money waiting for the enterprising soul who compiles a dictionary college lingo which will make the chatter of Mary and her brother, Joe College, understandable to the world outside the campus.

Imagine the bewilderment of Ma and Pa, down in the country, when Mary comes home for a vacation at Christmas time announing, "Well Mom, I sure had a whirl with that gent at the dammatory brawl last night! His dancing was so swell elegant I did tail spins all evening."

With the aid of a 1927 collegiate dictionary Mary's doting parents will be able to discover that a "dammatory brawl" is just an innocent informal little house dance at the dormitory. A "whirl" is a good time and "tail spins" is a figure of speech meaning "thrilled to pieces." "Swell elegant" is the collegiate way of saying "perfectly lovely."

The New Slang

Thumbing the pages of the dictionary a bit further you will discover, among others, the following terms and their definitions set forth for the edification of the older generation.

Sudden rush of blood to the head—extreme embarrassment.

Like nothing else—in a class by itself.

My cow!—For goodness sake, or what have you.

"I'll bob you one—I shall be forced to strike you.

Suitors—what once were called "boy friends."

Sit by the fireside—a house date.

Oh, allah—Oh, heavens!

Honey, drip or washout—a college man who fails to meet with the approval of the coeds.

G-R-O-A-N—Horrible, awful.

Baby, old lady—terms which Mary College uses in speaking of herself.

Mrs. Ritz—A "high-hat" co-ed.

Mrs. Astorbilt's plush horse—A co-ed who is expensively dressed.

Next time you meet a group of college folks don't get an inferiority complex if you can't understand their language—students on one campus frequently find the talk of their rival neighbors unintelligible.

Sport Clothes Are "In"

Dartmouth, Yale, Michigan, Princeton, Vassar, Wellesley, Cornell and Northwestern may each talk their own language, but in clothes their tastes are similar. Sports clothes for men and women are decidedly "in." "Plus fours," black or "loud" colored sweaters and golf hose distinguish the college man and his sister gives her allegiance to two-piece dresses, sweaters, skirts and leather jackets.

In the recitation room Mary and Joe use classical diction that is a joy to the ears of their professors (sometimes); but in the recreation hall! Next time you pass a university campus linger near a bit and the jolly students guarantee you'll hear language that's "like nothin' else."

TEX RICKARD PLANS ELIMINATION SERIES

Dempsey Can Enter If He Desires, Fight Promoter Declares

New York, Sept. 26—Tex Rickard, promoter of the record-smashing Tunney-Dempsey ring extravaganza in Chicago, arrived in New York today from the scene of the battle and declared he will launch another heavyweight elimination series in Madison Square Garden this winter to determine the logical man for the next big "shot" at the champion, Gene Tunney.

"Jack Dempsey will enter the elimination series if he fully decides he will fight again," said Rickard. "I haven't talked with Dempsey since before the fight."

In Rickard's opinion the public would like to see Dempsey and Tunney clash for the third time.

WOMAN'S DEATH RESULT OF SLEEP POWDER, BELIEF

Cincinnati, Sept. 26—An examination of the body of Mrs. Helen Diehn, 26, was to be made by county authorities here today, in an effort to determine the cause of her death, believed to have resulted from an overdose of a sleeping powder. Police were holding for investigation Stanley Smith, who lives in an adjoining apartment, who called authorities when, he said, he found the woman lying unconscious in her rooms.

WALKER AND KEARNS IN NEW JERSEY AUTO CRASH

Red Bank, N. J., Sept. 26 — Two young women were under treatment at Woodley Hospital here today for injuries received when an automobile in which they were riding collided with a car operated by Mickey Walker, lightweight boxing champion, at Rumson last night.

Walker received abrasions on his left wrist. Jack Kearns, his manager, who was in the car with him, also received a slight injury to his left wrist. Both went home after their hurts were bandaged by a physician. Three other men in the car with them escaped injury.

GOES TO DEATH CALMLY FOR OFFICER'S MURDER

Bellefonte, Pa., Sept. 26—Calm to the end, Carl Nolly, 26, negro, died in the electric chair at the state prison near here today for the murder of James Gay, Philadelphia patrolman. He was arrested in North Carolina last Summer. The shooting occurred New Year's Eve, 1925, when the patrolman accosted Nolly and asked to see a package he was carrying. The negro fired and fled.

HELD PENDING RECOVERY

Toms River, N. J., Sept. 26—Thomas Stewart, a laborer of South Toms River, charged with having shot and seriously wounded his daughter, Mrs. Geneva Williams, was being held in jail without bail today pending the outcome of the daughter's wounds. Mrs. Williams, who was wounded in the abdomen, is not expected to recover.

DAYTON POLICE PUT ON 12-HOUR SHIFTS

Feeling Is High as Captain Post Dies; Toll Is Three Dead

Dayton, Sept. 26—City police began working 12-hour shifts here beginning at 7 a. m. today, instead of the usual eight-hour shift, to insure a better patrol of the city, following the death of Police Capt. John C. Post, 46, who died Sunday after a pistol duel with Otis Bridges, negro, who was wounded. Bridges was removed to St. Francis Hospital, Columbus, Sunday, to insure his safety. Captain Post was shot Saturday afternoon.

Feeling in Dayton is said to be high as Post's death is the second in the police department to be charged against negroes in the past two weeks.

Roy Freeman, negro, who is under indictment for the first degree murder of Patrolman William C. Horn, was removed to the Franklin County Jail at Columbus for safekeeping until his trial, which is set for Oct. 10. Horn was shot Sept. 11.

Police are also seeking two negroes, who are said to have fatally shot Alfred Knight, a Baltimore & Ohio Railroad detective, on Sept. 15.

walk west on Church-st past Vine and not to look back unless he wanted his "brains blown out."

Scott said he complied with the order of the robber and when he returned a minute later the man had disappeared. He called the police, who made a search of the neighborhood, but no trace of the robber could be found.

It is the belief of Scott that the robber had concealed himself behind the office building when he went into the basement to get the hose preparatory to cleaning up for the day's business, and when he went into the office to open the safe, slipped in behind him, as he saw no one about when he came up from the basement.

Description of Bandit

The robber is described by Scott as being between 30 and 35 years of age, about five feet, six inches tall and wearing a dark suit with a narrow pin stripe. He is also said to have worn a small dark mustache which looked like it might have been false, Scott said.

It is believed that the would-be safe-crackers were frightened away at the Metropolitan store before they succeeded in driving out a steel pin which holds the combination and which must be removed before the door can be opened.

The intruders gained entrance to the store by forcing the south doors on Main-st. Some sort of bar forced in between the two swinging doors served as a lever to tear the lock from the wooden frame of the door. No clews were left by the robbers. The usual finger prints even were missing.

PEASANT FORCES OCCUPY SWATOW, POLICE LEAVE

London, Sept. 26—Peasant forces have occupied the city of Swatow, and the municipal police have evacuated, according to word from Hongkong today. The occupation took place Friday, according to the dispatch.

Five British destroyers are anchored in the river alongside the city.

CRUCIAL STAGE OF BEN'S COURT BATTLE REACHED

Benton Harbor, Mich., Sept. 26—With the fate of "King" Benjamin Purnell and his House of David at stake, opposing lawyers today entered the crucial stage of their battle in the state's dissolution suit against the cult.

W. J. Barnard, chief defense counsel, and George E. Nichols, special assistant attorney general, were to open the final round of the long fight in presenting arguments before Judge Louis H. Head of Newberry as to whether Purnell's colony should be dissolved as an immoral and fraudulent institution.

The closing arguments are expected to require at least three days.

Daily Proverb—"There's none so homely but loves a looking glass."

"Inside" Censorship.

With regularity there comes from Washington news despatches advising of this or that movement to close the theaters on Sundays, preliminary to the launching of a plan for national motion picture censorship.

It is impossible to look into the future and say definitely whether or not national motion picture censorship will come. In the days before the eighteenth amendment was written into the constitution of the United States there were thousands who would have wagered their last dollar that prohibition would not come.

A current theatrical paper lists thirty-seven "don'ts" handed down to producers by the governing body of the Association of Motion Picture Producers, incorporated, the guiding baton of the firm world at whose command the foremost picture concerns of the United States jump with alacrity.

All members of the association are pledged to follow the "don't" edict which bans pointed profanity, by either title or lip; any licentious or suggestive nudity, in fact or in silhouette; illegal traffic in drugs, white slavery, sex perversion or hygiene, miscegenation, scenes of child birth, ridicule of clergy and wilful offense to any nation, race or creed.

The producers are further urged to either eliminate or handle with good taste matter dealing with the use of the flag, international relations, religious ceremonies, arson, use of fire-arms, theft, brutality and gruesomeness, technique of committing murder by whatever method, smuggling methods, third degree methods, actual hangings or electrocutions, sympathy for criminals, sedition, apparent cruelty to children and animals, branding of people or animals, sale of women, attacks on them, seduction, bedroom scenes, surgical operations, use of drugs, titles or scenes having to do with law enforcement or enforcement officers and excessive kissing, particularly when one character or the other is a villain.

Most of these "don'ts," it is said, were suggested by the various state censor boards. It is our belief that inside censorship by producers themselves, such as is revealed in this list of suggestions, will accomplish more good than any federal censorship. While we often see pictures that offend good taste and are vulgar, yet the majority of the offensive pictures are offensive rather to our intelligence than to our sense of morals.

Should Women Play Cards?

"Bridge Widows" promise to be a rare article in Budapest for the minister of the interior in that serious-minded land has just issued a decree to the effect that women are to be prohibited hereafter from playing cards, either in public or in circles.

Cards are too exciting for women, this doughtly minister has decided, and he tells them bravely that they must put away the pasteboards and forget what's trumps.

One can imagine the secretary of the interior or of anything else for that matter getting away with such an order in these United States. It would be painful to picture the consternation in the Chuck-a-Luck Bridge club or the Goofy Gabbers Whist aggregation if the word were to be passed around that henceforth, if they would while away the social hours in some harmless indoor sport, they would have to take up ping-pong or parchesi or even descend to lotto or charades.

This Budapest person points out that women worry more over losing money than men do and that suicide, divorces, and immorality have followed the loss of important sums of money by women players—so they aren't to be allowed to play any more, and that's all there is to it.

There must be many pleasant scenes in Budapest homes these days when Paterfamilias dons his little feathered felt hat and starts off for the club or an evening at pinochle or cribbage or some other test for the intellect. Mother must stay at home and sew the buttons on little Jacob's knickers for her bridge club has been disbanded by order of the minister of the interior.

If she and the "girls" want to indulge in a quiet little session of auction they will have to slip away secretly and, behind closed blinds and in hushed tones, whisper bids of "two spades" or "three no trump" and trust to luck that they will not all be loaded in the wagon before the afternoon is over.

The millennium may not yet have arrived for women in America but they still may have their bridge clubs.

Eleven die while listening to fight returns! That wouldn't be unusual if the eleven died trying to see from their ringside seats.

A Far Rockaway man, who won $2,500 when Gene Tunney was given the decision over Jack Dempsey, has refused to accept this winnings because he believes Tunney was knocked out fairly by Jack in the seventh round. Some fellows have all the luck.

A New Kind of Turnover.

It hasn't been so long ago since reporters, printers and barbers were synonymous with the circus. They were here today and somewhere else tomorrow. A city editor just got to the place where he knew his staff by their first names when suddenly, overnight, there was an upheaval and the task of becoming acquainted with another crew was the task of the next day. So with printers. And with barbers.

But, now it's the preachers! Five in a month have left the portals of our fair city! Eight within the last six-month period! And, how many within the last year!

The number of churches here which have held onto their spiritual leaders for more than a year can be counted on one hand.

It's a perplexing problem. What can be do to hold them? Are we too wicked for them? Or are we too innocent for them? Is it impossible for them to guide us into the right paths, or do we follow along after them too easily, taking the thrill out of their work? At least we can say that we have given them experience.

But, leaving all joking aside the turnover of pastors in Marion during the last year has been amazing. All of them, we hope, have been called to happier fields. We are sure Marion has been happy in meeting and knowing them and we hope the newcomers will like us.

Development of Radio.

More than twenty-five large manufacturers of radio sets, all of them exhibitors at the Radio World's fair in Madison Square garden, have sold their entire factory output for the coming season, it was announced before the close of the fair last week.

This in itself points to the strides being made by this baby industry.

Clearing of the ether by the federal radio commission, new allocation of wave lengths and gradually improving programs broadcast by the various chains can be thanked for a large measure of the industry's success.

An example of the interest in radio was found in the recent Tunney-Dempsey fight in Chicago. A large newspaper chain sponsored the broadcasting of the fight from some sixty-eight radio stations scattered throughout the country. Millions heard the detailed broadcast. It is estimated that more than 500,000 persons heard the radio tell the story right in central Ohio. Marion radio merchants did a thriving business this week and battery stations were at peek capacity.

Politics will have to show some real speed to stop baseball from making a homer and football from crossing the last white line in public interest from now until Thanksgiving.

Gettting Back on the Map.

Let no American manufacturers or exporters delude themselves with the notion that Europe is still stunned by the World war and that it will not be an industrial rival to be reckoned with for years to come.

Europe is no longer looking towards the past and letting her thoughts dwell upon the devastation that swept over her during the years of conflict, say American business executives who have just made a comprehensive survey of industrial and commercial conditions abroad.

Europe is not only back on its feet in an industrial way, but it is planning to make an aggressive fight for foreign business and American manufacturers will find that they have to compete with modern and efficient commercial organizations abroad in the struggle for the trade that the world has to give.

It will be unwise for Americans to judge the present Europe by the Europe of the past, says Director Julius Klein, of the federal bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, for we are confronted today, he asserts, with a new Europe of vastly more competitive potentiality.

American trade methods are not lagging, however, and the federal business official sees no need for American producers to be unduly apprehensive, provided that they remain alert and expectant of the competition that is sure to come.

The American business experts discovered that, while Great Britain was suffering from serious depression last year, it has made a remarkable recovery this year and is assembling the great economic strength that lies in its dominions in a way that promises keen rivalry for American trade movements.

Thinking American manufacturers will welcome this healthy trade competition and will gird up their industrial loins to meet it. World prosperity can not exist while a large part of it is industrially stagnant and honest competition will advance any country, economically, that does its sincere best to meet it.

The Legionnaires are boys. They can tear up the pavement when they want to and behave perfectly at other times, as witness their good behavior in Paris.

Insurance men urge girls not to wear silk stockings and thin-soled slippers during the winter months. These insurance men certainly are optimists.

Ray Marsden, Ohio penitentiary convict, has signed affidavits in which he confesses that seventeen Roman Catholic churches up in Canada were burned by the same gang with which he worked along the same lines in this country. It looks a bit as though the gang may have been influenced by religious prejudice as well as a desire to get rich quickly without working.

It's very probable that "The Circus" will seem mighty tame to Charlie Chaplin after what he has gone through.

Dr. Straton, the New York pastor always in the prints, is going to bring little Udine Utley back to the big city for another evangelistic campaign and predicts that, despite the prize fights and other worldliness, one will see "purging fire and miracles in hard-boiled New York" as they do in China and the Bible. Dr. Straton had better keep quiet about this or Mr. Rickard is liable to corner the whole business and make a three-million-dollar gate out of it.

W-WH-WHO'S AFRAID?

No Bottled "Cure."

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

It's amazing what stuff men and women will buy in the hope and expectation that health will be restored by taking it. The most amazing claims are made for the benefits to be had by taking a bottle of this or that.

A certain remedy was extensively advertised as containing "over 700 per cent. more tissue-building, life sustaining nourishment than wheat flour." On examination of this product in the laboratory, it was found that a dollar's worth of wheat flour possesses just as much energy as $200 worth of the "remedy." Ordinary pot cheese contains forty times as much energy, dollar for dollar.

What should be done about it?

Everything that a man has will be give for his life. But health is too vital a thing to be trifled with or abused. Why take a chance?

Tuberculosis is an ailment which happily is on the decline. Was in controlled by drugs? It was not. It is being mastered by education. The public has learned that bad personal hygiene is responsible for a lowered physical condition, a condition of the body ready for the germs of tuberculosis. By learning this and then turning away from practices that lead to disaster, steady decrease has taken place in the prevalence of tuberculosis.

Of course there is much yet to be done. There are thousands who have not learned, or who do not follow, the simple rules of sensible living. We must not stop until everybody practices right living.

If some one near and dear to you has tuberculosis, or a tendency to it, don't put your trust in bottles or boxes of "cures." Tuberculosis can not be cured that way. Bear this in mind.

The human body is not like a standard plow. When a No. 2 plowshare wears out, you can get a new one. The No. 2 you buy will supply your need. Simply tell your dealer the make and number of your plow and he can satisfy your need.

But you can't do this with disease. You can't go into a store and say, "I have tuberculosis of the right lung; I am five feet eight inches tall and twenty years old. Give me a bottle of the cure for my case."

You laugh at this, but it is what happens every day in every town in America. I beg of you not to dally and trifle with a serious disease by any such hopeless method.

If you have tuberculosis, or fear of it, see your doctor. He will give you a thorough physical examination and have the sputum tested. If you have no doctor, consult your local board of health or health officer.

In this way you will find just exactly what is wrong if anything, and will be advised what to do. You can have mental peace then, for you will know you are doing the right thing.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES

O. S. Q—Is there a substitute for meat?

2—Is baking soda harmful to the system?

A—Milk and eggs are protein foods and will make up for the lack of meat in the diet, but there is no actual substitute for meat.

2—Too much soda is injurious. If you watch your diet it will not be necessary to resort to this form of treatment. For further instructions send a self addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

• • •

H. R. B. Q—Would the frequent use of common baking soda as a counter-agent for acidity and sour stomach be injurious in any way?

A—Probably not, but if you watch your diet, avoiding too many sweets and acid foods, drink plenty of water between meals and avoid constipation, you will not have to resort to the soda. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question. — Copyright, 1927.

Twenty Years Ago.

This day was Thursday.

County Clerk Klinefelter and Sheriff Drown drew the grand and petit jurors for the October term of court.

The Star reported that on Wednesday Marion broke even in a double-header with Newark here. Newark won the first game, four to two, while Marion won the second game, three to two.

Harley, thirteen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Freshour, died of typhoid fever and pneumonia.

The opening of the Hess, Bloch & Company's Golden Eagle store on east Center street, was reported by the Star.

Marriage licenses were issued to Casper Batenstien and Mrs. Myrtle Miller and William McClellan and Miss Nina Robison.

The exhibit of the Marion country corn at the fair was considered remarkably good in view of the fact that the season was so late, much of the corn being too green to display.

If we moved our legs as quickly, in proportion, as an ant, we should walk at a rate of 300 miles an hour.

The Tunney Victory.

A REAL FIGHT.

Gene Tunney has successfully defended his heavyweight boxing championship in a real fight. The rejuvenated Jack Dempsey pushed the champion hard, but the decision was beyond questioning. The battle was one of the best heavyweight championships of recent times—unquestionably a far better contest than the one in Philadelphia. . . . Tunney is a worthy champion—worthy of being the champion of a great sport instead of a big business enterprise.—New York Herald Tribune.

WHAT DOES IT PROVE?

Once an ex-champion always an ex-champion. They never come back.

That seems to be the lesson of last night's fight.

Military heroes—and their armies—are defeated, but return to annihilate their conquerors. Political heroes are swept to temporary oblivion, but rise again to rule the earth. Spiritual heroes lose their sway, but live to be exalted again.

Not so with the heavyweight heroes of the ring. They have their brief day and they are done. . . . If it is true that it never can happen, this may be the explanation: A champion is a champion only so long as he knows he can not be defeated. And that is something a champion never can know after he has become an ex-champion.

Which is all very fine philosophy, but it wouldn't be worth a tinker's dam if Tunney had failed to get up at the count of nine in that seventh round.—Columbus Citizen.

THE KING STILL REIGNS.

. . . Tunney won the match. It was on points, not by virtue of a decisive blow. He was himself within a second of being flattened to a finish by the mighty Dempsey's fist, taking nine counts and struggling to his feet just in time to avoid the tenth. For a few seconds it looked as though the often-repeated prediction of "Dempsey by a knockout in the seventh" had been verified. But, according to the most coherent of the reports from the ringside, he was saved by a slight technical error by the challenger, who turned to the wrong corner after delivering the prostrating blow, and so gave the fallen man a little more time in which to regain his breath and strength.

It was a close thing for Tunney. But there is no dispute, it would seem, over the decision finally rendered. For, failing to win the fight in the seventh, Dempsey faltered in the succeeding rounds and showed that he had reached his climax in that one punch that all but regained the title for him. During the last three rounds he was distinctly outsparred by his opponent, and the ruling in favor of Tunney was accepted as just.—Washington Star.

THE BETTER MAN.

Dempsey fought a great fight but Tunney is the better man. Dempsey is always dangerous but, if the two should fight once a month for a year, it is probable that Tunney would win ten or eleven of the bouts. It is probable that Tunney is a better fighter than Dempsey ever was. He, too, could have whipped the sluggish Willard, the slender Carpentier and the wildly plunging Firpo at their best and twice he has whipped Dempsey in a convincing manner. Perhaps Dempsey underestimated his opponent the first time but he did not underestimate him the second . . . .

Tunney's nature and his style are different. There is nothing of the tiger in him. He is the scientific boxer. Pugilism is his profession, taken very seriously. He studies offense and defense as he would study hard problems in mathematics or science. He patiently and determinedly seeks the correct answer. He is Dempsey's inferior in slugging power, his equal in courage and vastly his superior in mentality and coolness under fire. . . . . .

It is said that Tunney may retire from the ring and take to the lecture platform with the object of preaching to the boys and young men of the country the clean life, the sound body and the sound mind. There is no other man in the country, unless it be Lindbergh, in a position to accomplish so much for good in that way as he. Boys almost worship the Gene Tunneys and are greatly influenced by what they say, backed up by what they do.—Ohio State Journal.

THE FIGHT.

. . . As for the fight itself, Tribune experts have said all there is to say about it, said it expertly and excellently. It was a fight between a go as you please mauler grown unsteady on his legs and a clean, sportsmanlike boxer with a very good pair of legs. The better man received a just decision. It would have been a better fight had Illinois law allowed a fifteen or twenty round contest. . . . . —Chicago Tribune.

Odd and Interesting.

Michigan, which is the recognized state where the Republican party was born, never had the honor of entertaining a national Republican convention.

In addition to being pastor of three Methodist churches in neighboring villages, Rev. Harry G. Butler teaches several sciences in the Andover, Kansas, high school, and in his spare time works as a substitute rural mail carrier.

Two negro school teachers of Virginia, Professor Edbert Terry and his wife, have taught in the negro schools of the Old Dominion since the early '70s, their combined service representing a period of over 100 years.

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

Not much use to talk about stopping hops across the sea. No use to talk about stopping men from trying anything. There will always be a few Lindberghs in the world. They will get what they want, whatever the danger. Lindbergh says hazardous flights should not be prevented, but they should be attempted only after careful study by experienced men. That's the viewpoint of men who have contributed most to progress. Leaders are not afraid of hazards but they are not foolhardy.

The stomach is a small affair. Too bad we abuse it so thoughtlessly. Two Chicago university teachers did a little experimenting the other day. One swallowed a toy balloon attached to a stomach tube. The other blew up the balloon. In a few moments the man who had swallowed the balloon felt drowsy—as one does after heavy eating. Thus they proved that distention of the stomach is the cause of the feeling of unfitness after a too hearty meal. The stomach is capable of astonishing distension. But it's unwise to take advantage of that fact. Freak dieting usually does more harm than good, but the fact remains that most people eat a great deal more food than they need.

When Michael Pupin, great scientist of Columbia university, disagrees with Sir Oliver Lodge about what the ether is or isn't, we might all be pardoned for feeling discouraged. If the wise men of the realm don't know any more about air and light and electricity and ether, what can the rest of us do about it? But that's not the way to look at it? If experts can't agree, there's a chance for all of us to do some thinking and perhaps contribute one fresh idea to our own times.

Billy Sunday mixes baseball and prize fighting with preaching. He has a quick and ready opinion about everything that the great rank and file—the ninety-five percent—are interested in. He puts his mental cookies on the lowest shelf where all can reach. The other day he came back with all his old-time fervor to Chicago. Five thousand packed into the church and 5,000 were turned away. Billy Sunday is a practical psychologist. The fact that he mixes religion with the everyday affairs of the people accounts for his popularity.

The little things you do indicate your fitness or unfitness to do big things. The little things make you or betray you.

Views of Those in Public Eye.

GERALD P. NYE.

Gerald P. Nye was born at Hortonville, Wisconsin, December 19, 1892. He was graduated from the high school at Wittenberg, Wisconsin in 1911. Began newspaper work at Hortonville in 1911 and continued a journalistic career as editor and manager of various papers until 1925, when he was appointed to the United States senate to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Edwin F. Ladd. Was elected to that office in 1926. He is a Progressive Republican, and his home is at Cooperstown, North Dakota.

Senator Nye has outlined his idea of a progressive congressional organization. He says:

"So much interest has been shown in the proposal and so many questions have been asked respecting possibilities growing out of the progressive group in congress effect such organization as will make it a better working unit that I issue this statement with the idea in mind of making clear my own personal position and hopes.

"The organization of the progressive group should not in any way be considered an attempt to organize a new party or a third party, but merely as an endeavor to cause one or the other or both of the old parties to inaugurate programs which will make them, as parties, more responsive to the interests and the wishes of the great mass of American people. I would not encourage such organization for the purpose of embarassing either party. Indeed, for my own part, I believe that any program inaugurated by the progressive group ought to be carried to the party caucus and there encouraged its adoption. Whatever program may be inaugurated by the progressive group, I hope will be one which itself asserts a constructive purpose.

"Often the so-called progressive group is pictured entertaining radical ideas and being more in the nature of a force of dissatisfaction than an influence for progressive construction. The opportunity is especially favorable at this time for this group to establish once and for all its position as a constructive influence. Much inquiry has prevailed regarding a program such as the progressive forces might have in mind I could not at this time and would not seek to speak for the group as a whole. I merely voice the hope that the progressive forces can be brought together behind a tangible and practical program."

Vagrant Verse.

THE SOUL OF A DOG.

The curate thinks you had no soul:
Let him keep thinking so—but you,
Dear friend, whose solemn self-control,
In our high-backed familiar pew
Was pattern to my youth—whose bark
Called me in summer days to rove—
Have you gone down into the dark
Where none is welcome, none may love?

I will not think those good brown eyes
Have spent their light of truth so soon;
But in some canine paradise
Your wraith, I know, rebukes the moon;
And quarters every plain and hill
Seeking its master. As for me
This prayer, at least, the gods fulfill:
That when I pass the flood and see
Old Charon by the Stygian coast
Take toll of all the shades o'er land,
Your little, faithful barking ghost
May leap to lick my phantom hand.

City of Bathing Pools.

BY O. O. M'INTYRE.

Los Angeles, Sept. 26—Los Angeles is notably distinguished from other large cities by backyard bathing pools. They are as much a part of the modern home as the bath tub. The finest are featured among the castles of movie folk.

There are many pools so arranged owners may step through French windows of their bedrooms to a springing board and dive into deep water. There are those with indirect lights playing upon them at night and after dinner bathing parties are nightly occurrences.

About the first thing the owner of a fine home shows you is the pool. A house on a hill with a large pool is a tag of distinction. Some pools reveal colorful mosiac bottoms of fantastic design and one movie actress has her own likeness patterned in tile blocks. Tom Mix is reported to have the finest pool.

It is not unusual to see limousines filled with guests attired in bathing suits pull up at the curb to attend a splash party. Rubber rafts pushed out into the pool by servants in swimming suits and upon which refreshments are served.

And after-theater parties instead of going to supper clubs go to pool parties given by friends. Often you see men and women in evening clothes carrying little bathing suit satchels to the play so as to be prepared for after festivities.

Several pools have balcony arrangements for jazz orchestras and on special occasions swimming and diving to music is a part of the entertainment. One pool party had a band playing breast high in the water. The ocean is only a short distance by motor and the beach resorts are splendid, but Los Angeles enjoys the exclusive swim more.

Too, there are week-end bathing parties where guests arrive Friday evening with only bathing suits and remain until Sunday evening. Despite many high jinks in bathing pools there have been no casualties and that, as a movie actor said, is better than playing with pistols.

Mt. Victory Grays Lose Final Game for Hardin Championship, 6-2

Kenton, Sept. 26—Defeating the Mt. Victory Grays 6 to 2 Sunday in the last of a three game series played at Lake Idlewild park, the Alger club thereby won the undisputed baseball championship of all Hardin County. The Kenton Reds, McGuffey and Nigger Island, other contenders for the title, were eliminated in earlier game series.

A record crowd witnessed the deciding tilt here Sunday. While the victors touched Hollycross and "Bo" Nichols, crack hurlers for the southern Hardin County town, for a total of eight hits, Chavis, veteran colored moundsman for Alger, held his opponents to three lone bingles. Victory's first score on an error by Powell, second sacker. Haley, in the seventh, reached home on a long two bagger by Grubbs, for the second tally.

Timely hitting brought in four runs for Alger in the sixth frame and two others in the third and fourth.

Some Lose Weight while others gain

Normalcy aided and efficiency increased by new disease conqueror

The marvelous health-building properties of Hunt's Internal Bath are illustrated by the fact that thin people usually gain under its use, whereas the stout lose.

The reason is simple. Over or under weight often results from self-poisoning, or auto-intoxication. This condition, which has been discovered to be a cause of nearly every ill, from simple dizzy spells to cancer, arises from uncleanliness of the lower bowel. And Hunt's Internal Bath completely ends auto-intoxication by keeping it washed clean.

In "Civilization's Greatest Menace," published in support of this great discovery, the amazing toll of auto-intoxication and constipation is cited by fifty world-leading doctors. We will gladly give you a free copy of this valuable booklet and show you our display of Hunt's Internal Bath.

Hemorrhoids Disappear

No Cutting or Salves Needed to Banish Piles

External treatments seldom banish Piles and for the very good reason that the cause is inside—bad circulation in affected parts veins are flabby and bowel walls weakened.

To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation—send fresh, healthy blood to the raw, sensitive membranes. Internal treatment is one safe method. Ointments and other external treatments can't give lasting relief.

J. S. Leonhardt, M. D., a specialist, set at work some years ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He succeeded. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and it has proven successful in thousands of cases—so successful that now HEM-ROID is sold by druggists under a money back guarantee. It is a harmless tablet, easy to take, and can always be found at Heeney & Cooper, who will promptly refund the purchase price if you are dissatisfied.—Adv.

Recipes for New and Novel Dishe; Household Ideas and Suggestions

We have not had a breakfast menu in this column for some time. Breakfast may be a really delightful meal and even if the family is hurried and don't say anything about it, they can hardly fail to notice a charming color scheme. It need not require much time or effort but after all it has its effect in starting the day out right. A simple printed cotton cloth may be used with napkins to match, or possibly you prefer doilies or runners. The color should harmonize with the dishes. Then the colors of the fruit, of the toast and eggs, with the shining coffee pot, give you a cheery effect.

Fruit—Cherries or Grapes on Stem and a Peach
Poached Eggs on Toast
Coffee

TODAY'S RECIPES

Fruit—With fruit of the character suggested in the above menu it is better to wash it thoroughly and put into a large dish in the center of the table, so all may help themselves to what they wish. The melon, oranges, etc., that are especially prepared should be put on individual fruit plates.

Poached Eggs—Grease the bottom of a saucepan and fill at least three inches deep with boiling, salted water, one teaspoon to a quart. Set in this greased muffin rings or regular poaching rings. Break the eggs, one at a time into a saucer, keeping them whole. Slip from saucer into boiling water and reduce the water to just below boiling point. The yolk of the egg should come just above the surface of the water. Dip the water over the egg with a spoon until the white is firm and the yolk is covered with a white film. Take from the water with a skimmer and place on soft buttered toast. If you have no egg or muffin rings put the eggs into the water not too close together with a teaspoon of vinegar or lemon juice added to the water to keep the egg white from separating too much. Pepper and salt can be added later to suit individual tastes!

Aspic is jellied stock—a transparent meat jelly, usually made stiff with gelatine, or it may be made with vegetable or fruit juice.

CLEANER PAIL

If you will line your garbage pail each day with a newspaper all grease will be absorbed and the daily washing of this utensil can be avoided.

Ted Sloan, drawn by the sound of Beau playing the guitar, comes upstairs just as Millie's "sweetie" —a man named DAVIDSON—arrives to take her out for the eve-ning. Millie, who has been refusing to speak to Sally because she refused to let her cut down one of her dresses into a bathing suit, breaks her sulky silence long enough to ask Sally to go into the living room and entertain him while she finishes dressing.

Now Go On with the Story

* * *

CHAPTER XI

WHEN Sally went back into the living room with its old brown walnut furniture, its crisp muslin curtains and pots of salmon-pink geraniums, Beau was still playing "Miami Shore" on his new guitar.

"Come on, Sally," the man named Davidson said, when he caught sight of her in the doorway. "Rattle your ankles for us again!" He spoke to her as casually as if he had known her for years instead of for five minutes.

Sally hated his air of intimacy, all at once. She didn't like the way his eyes ran over her, from her head down to the slim ankles that he wanted her to "rattle" for him again.

She shook her head and dropped into Mrs. Jerome's old green velour chair. "Please don't ask me to dance.," she said, and gave him a little smile that barely lifted the corners of her mouth. "I dont' do it well enough!"

This, of course, was not the truth Sally was a marvelous dancer and she knew it without conceit and without special pride in it . . . She simply knew that she could dance, just as she knew that she could cook and keep house well.

"I'll bet you do!" Davison said with enthusiasm. "I'll bet there isn't a thing you do that you don't do well!" He came across the lamplit room and sat down on the wide arm of the green velour chair.

"Dear me," thought Sally. "I wonder if this is the way he talks to every girl he meets."

"Oh, me!" she said aloud. "I don't do anything particularly well. I can't sing or play the piano or do any of the smart things most girls can do. I'm just a plug—"

"She can cook!" came Millie's triumphant little voice from the door. She was standing between the curtains that hung there, a perfect picture of youth and loveliness and girlish innocence in her blue dress that matched her blue eyes.

"And she can scrub floors and wash dishes and iron clothes to beat the band," she went on with a soft, cruel little laugh. "Sally's just the dearest old kitchen mechanic that ever was. We couldn't keep house without her."

"So Sally's the housekeeper," Davidson said, slowly, and, looking up at him, Sally saw that his eyes were full of kindness. "Well, let me shake hands with you, Sally. You're the only girl I know who can cook a meal—and who isn't ashamed of saying so. Most of the girls that are growing up these days don't know a waffle-iron from a flat-iron."

"I hope you aren't slamming me when you say that," piped up Millie, who was never happy unless she were in the lime-light. "Come on, Davy, let's go if we're going."

She shot Sally a jealous glance from her shallow blue eyes, and bore Davidson off with the air of a war-like Indian hanging his enemy's scalp upon his belt.

"Nice baby," isn't she?" Ted Sloan asked when the pair of them were gone. He stood at the window with his back to the room, looking down into the street that was filled with twilight. "Nice, sweet sister to you."

"Davidson sort of fell for you, didn't he?" he asked quietly, after a little pause.

"Oh, me!" Sally said again. "Who'd look at me, when Millie's around?"

"I would," he answered, with a sort of huskiness in his voice. "I would, any day in the week—every day in the week!"

On Saturday Mabel came to have supper and spend the night with the Jeromes.

Beau brought her home with him at 5 o'clock. In his arms was a bulky gray paper package, and upon his head was a new felt hat.

"Bought myself a few socks and things, so you wouldn't have to wear your eyes out mending the old stuff any longer," he said to Sally, with the air of a missionary and a good Samaritan.

"That's nice," his sister answered, and as she spoke a little troubled frown printed itself upon her forehead. . . . She hoped that Beau hadn't spent all of his salary on his new clothing. For with Millie out of work, it was going to be hard work to keep the bills paid unless she borrowed some money from him this week.

That night, when she went into his room to turn down the bed, it was littered with the things he had bought. There were six or seven new neckties on the dresser. The top drawer stood open, and it was filled with soft collars still in their glazed-paper envelopes. There were three new shirts—loud-striped ones—on a chair beside the bed, along with a dozen pairs of heavy silk socks.

Sally gave a little gasp of astonishment as she looked at them. The troubled look came into her eyes again. . . . Why, Beau must have spent every nickel of his $40 salary on this stuff. It was all good, all expensive.

Then, as she opened the bottom drawer to put the shirt away, a folded slip of paper fell from them. She laid the shirts down and looked at it. It was the bill for Beau's splendor, and it was for $46.46.

"For the love of little green apples! Where did he get $46?" said Sally, in a horrified whisper. Her eyes darted to one corner of the room, where the guitar stood upright against the wall—the guitar that he had bought three days ago, when he had said he was "flat busted."

Sally did not know exactly what a guitar cost but she supposed that a good one was pretty expensive. She knew, too, that Beau wouldn't buy one unless it was a good one.

He disliked cheap things, he always said. Even the cigarets that were habitually pasted upon his lower lips were a cork-tipped kind that cost 30 cents a box.

"If I can't have the best, I don't want anything," was one of Beau's favorite sayings. "I'd rather do without!" And he did without very little that he wanted. A man can spend $40 a week upon himself, and have a fairly comfortable time of it.

"Mother must have got her check and turned it over to him," was the conclusion that Sally finally came to, as she put the clothes neatly away in his drawers.

Every month or so a check came from Mr. Jerome for her. Sometimes is was not a very big check, and sometimes it was. The only bad feature of it was that is came at irregular intervals, and that Mrs. Jerome often spent it on foolish luxuries instead of putting it into the bank or paying a grocery bill with it.

Lately she had been turning it over to Beau and Millie, who knew when it was about due, and did not hesitate to ask for money whenever there was any of it in sight.

"Money just runs through my fingers," Mrs. Jerome was wont to say in her helpless, good-natured way, and Beau and Millie were just like her. Born spendthrifts.

"Sally's the tightwad of the family," they often said, especially when she had refused to lend them money for cigarets or perfume or motion-picture magazines.

Sally went now to her mother, who was sitting at the dining room table, reading and finishing her after-dinner coffee. She just would drink coffee at night, even though she stayed awake 'til dawn. She said she couldn't do without it. It kept up her strength—what strength she had.

The table before her was littered with dirty dishes and bread crumbs, and on the other side of it sat, Millie, looking over a woman's magazine. Mabel was reading it, from over her shoulder.

"Say, I thought you two were going to do the dishes for me, so I'd have time to mend Millie's stockings for her!" Sally spoke sharply to the pair of them. They were always promising to help her with the dishes or the bed-making in return for work she did for them.

Mabel opened her big eyes and shrugged one shoulder.

"I'm perfectly willing to do them—but I won't unless Millie helps," said she pertly. "There's no reason why I should—Beau pays for any trouble I make in this house."

Sally's scarlet mouth made a round O of astonishment. "Beau pays for any trouble you make here Mabel?" she repeated. "Why, what are you talking about? Not that you're any trouble. We love to have you—but don't get the idea that Beau pays your [illegible] like that. Good [illegible] any like [illegible]

Harding Trims Upper Sandusky, 19 to 0

Red and Black Show Form In Opener: Kicking Poor But Passing Work Better

Locals Score in All But Third Quarter; Coach Bohyer Sends in Entire Squad After Two Touchdowns Are Checked Up

Showing exceptional early season form the Harding high school football team romped to a 19 to 0 victory over Upper Sandusky at the fairgrounds Saturday afternoon. It was the first game for both teams and served as an excellent practice session for the Red and Black.

While there are a few rough spots yet to be ironed out of the Red and Black machine, the team showed the 1,100 fans who attended the game that Harding will be able to take care of itself in the N. C. O league which opens for the locals next Saturday when they go to Galion. Fumbles were costly Saturday and the kicking of the Red and Black booters was nothing to write home about. A bright spot in the game however was the passing game played by the locals.

Passes Good

Harding's passes, with one or two exceptions, were good for 10 to 20 yards. The fans had an opportunity to see the new lateral pass in operation when Lowe, quarterback, tossed the ball to McAninch, left half, who incidentaly made a 30-yard run which was one of the features of the game. McAninch starred again in the fourth quarter when he received a punt on his own 20-yard line and returned it to the opponents' 45-yard line, making a 35-yard run without much in the way of interference to help him.

Harding scored in every quarter but the third, but failed in every case to annex the point after touchdown. Upper Sandusky handed the Red and Black one point on a platter after the last touchdown when they got ambitious and interferred with an eligible man. Referee Bacon allowed the point.

Upper Sandusky never seriously threatened to score. It was rather an ill assorted team that came here to represent the Wyandot county school, lacking the balance and smoothness that was evident in the local squad. Captain Lodsdon, the rangy 180-pound fullback for the visitors, would be a good football player, however, if he had a team that could back him up. On several occasions he went through the Harding line for nice gains. Baurer, fast 150-pound quarterback for the visitors, whose long suite seemed to be end runs was held down by the effective work of the Harding ends, Lewis and Houghton.

Heavy Line

Harding's line goes over the 170-pound mark with the two exceptions, held beautifully on the defensive and opened up holes on the offensive that the fast backs were not slow in taking advantage of.

After his team had sent across two markers Coach Bohyer began sending in substitutes and in the last quarter they went in in droves. Practically the entire squad saw service and who played and who didn't play, perhaps the coach himself wouldn't be able to say. One of the shining lights that went from the reserve bench was Castner, fast but inexperienced right half. In the excitement of his first play he made a fumble that might have proven costly but Harding recovered on their own 10 yard line. A punt put the ball out of danger two minutes before the whistle blew for the end of the half. Later the sophomore's speed netted the Red and Black nearly 20 yards on a couple of plays through the line.

Harding Scores

Harding won the toss and chose to defend the north goal. Baurer received Harding's kickoff on the 20 yard line and returned five yards. A fumble gave Marion the ball on the 25 yard line, only to lose it on downs. Dunnit failed to gain. Logadon got a yard and on the third down Upper Sandusky kicked to Lowe on the 40 yard line, who returned 15 yards. McAninch failed around end. A pass, McAninch to Lowe, netted 15 yards and McAninch got two around end. Another pass, McAninch to Garrett put the Red and Black within scoring distance and Stafford went over for the first touchdown of the game and the season. Houghton kicked but the ball hit the cross bar and bounced back.

Harding kicked again and Upper Sandusky had the ball on the 30 yard line. Neinmaster went through the line for about 15 yards. Logsdon failed on two tries at the line but on the third got 5 yards. A pass from Volker to Dunnit was good for 10 yards. The next pass Harding broke up and Upper Sandusky was given a 10 yard penalty. Harding recovered a fumble and got possession of the ball on the 50 yard line. A couple of plays and a punt gained only one yard.

Upper Sandusky got two yards on as many tries at the line and Baurer tumbled on a right end run. Harding recovered and the quarter was over.

Harding 6, Upper Sandusky 0.

Second Quarter

Garrett gained 11 yards but Stafford fumbled on the next play and Upper Sandusky recovered on its own 38 yard line. Houghton threw Upper Sandusky for a five yard loss and on the next play Baurer lost two yards. Th Harding line was more than holding its own. Garrett received Upper Sandusky's 15 yard punt and returned it five yards. McAninch got 3 yards through left tackle and Garrett got 5 around left end. Lowe snatched McAninch's pass after it had bounced out of a couple of pairs of hands in the melee and it was good for 20 yards. The pass regained a 20 yard penalty given Harding on the previous play. McAninch got eight yards and on the next play Logadon intercepted his pass giving Upper Sandusky the ball on its own 30 yard line. Houghton recovered a fumble and Harding had the ball on the 25 yard line. Harding got a first down on line bucks and was within position to score a second time. On a cross buck play McAninch handed the ball to Lowe who went across the line. Again Houghton failed to kick goal the ball going wide.

The half ended without excitement with the exception of Castner's fumble which gave Upper Sandusky the ball on Harding's ten yard line. Harding kicked out of danger and two minutes were whiled away in the middle of the field. Before Castner's fumble however, Upper Sandusky uncorked a drive that netted them two first downs in a row.

Score at the half: Harding 13, Upper Sandusky 0.

Although there were some nice plays in the third quarter neither team threatened to score. Volker got Harding's kick off on the 15 yard line and returned 30 yards for a pretty run. Harding was once within 15 yards on the opponents line but a 15 yard penalty put them out of danger. Another 15 yard penalty was handed them just before the end of the quarter.

At the opening of the last quarter Harding had the ball on its own 40 yard line. Harding kicked 20 yards.

After a pass good for eight yards Upper Sandusky lost on downs. McAninch went trough for 10 yards but fumbled giving Upper Sandusky the ball on its own 42 yard line. Upper Sandusky kicked and McAninch returned 35 yards. McAninch of 10 yards and a first down behind good interference. A long pass failed and Upper Sandusky kicked to Lowe who signaled for a free catch. The cross buck play that gave Harding its first touchdown failed but a little later this play in combination with a lateral pass, Lowe to McAninch, gave Harding 30 yards. Terry caught another pass and ran out of bounds on the 10 yard line. Upper Sandusy held for three downs but on the fourth Houghton went over for the third touchdown.

Referee Bacon allowed Harding the point after touchdown as Upper Sandusky interferred with an eligible man.

Coach Bohyer now sent in substitutes on a wholesale scale and the second stringers held fairly well. The play for the rest of the quarter was in the center of the field.

LEAGUE RACE MAY TIE

HOMER EVERY DAY IS BABE'S TASK

New York Sept. 26—Babe Ruth, still at the 56 mark, must hit one homer in each of New York's four remaining games in order to set a new home run record of 60. The Bambino and his rival, Lou Gehrig, were held to one single apiece yesterday by Earl Whitehill of the Tigers, Gehrig fanning three times.

NEW RECORD

Frank Lockhart Averages 80.8 Miles on Dirt Track at Cleveland

Cleveland, Sept. 26—Frank Lockhart, 23 year old auto race driver, of Dayton ,today held new world's records for all distances up to 100 miles, for one mile dirt tracks, following his sensational victory at North Randall yesterday afternoon.

Driving a Miller special, Lockhart finished the 100-mile grind in 1 hour, 14 minutes, 14.4 seconds, for an average of 80.826 miles per hour. In the morning, Lockhart set a new non-competitive record for one-mile trucks with an average of 92.42 miles per hour.

Old Ralph De Palma, one of the greatest race drivers of all time, saw the records he set at Syracuse two years ago taken from the books, Lockhart took the lead at the start and set 100 new records by bettering De Palma's time all the way.

Wilbur Shaw, Indianapolis, driving a Frontenac, finished second; while the gray-haired DePalma with a Miller Special, was third.

Walsh Believes Dempsey Would Be King If Bout Was Fought in New York

Count in Empire State Begins as Soon as Man Goes Down, While in Chicago Count Starts After Opponent Is Chased into Neutral Corner

BY DAVIS J. WALSH

New York, Sept. 26—Regardless of whether Referee Dave Barry counted too much or too little or just enough or not at all, the following fact was a stand out in the Dempsey-Tunney situation today: that Jack Dempsey probably would be the heavyweight champion of the world once more if the bout had been fought in New York instead of Chicago. This is not offered in a spirit of criticism of Chicago's system or its integrity, both of which are beyond reproach.

Chicago's system merely is different from that of New York, or at least it seems to be. Anyhow, the former appears to give the break to the man on the floor; the latter to the man on his feet.

As soon as a man goes down in a New York ring, the timekeeper arises and begins pounding the count on the canvas with a mallet. The referee, meanwhile, busies himself with the matter of ushering the other fighter to a neutral corner. This done, he returns to the fallen man, picks up the count at what point it may be and tolls on to 10 or to the point where the man decides to forsake the perpendicular.

Only 10 Seconds

In other words, only 10 seconds can elapse between the actual knockdown and the actual knockout, with this lone exception: that, in case the man scoring the knockdown leaves the neutral corner before the completion of the count, it is stopped immediately. When the man returns to the corner, the count is resumed at the point where it was stopped.

Leo P. Flynn says the rules in New York and Chicago on knockdowns are almost identical. If that is true, then Tunney was counted out and Dempsey should be counted in, right now and immediately. However, I have listened to Mr. Flynn say things all my life and a dispassionate check-up has shown that at least five times out of a hundred he is right.

This, of course, may be an occasion that falls within the minority one-twentieth. Still, I saw the Chicago system worked twice that night—once in the big fight and again in a "mugg" bout that followed. In the latter instance, the timekeeper had counted three when he noted that the referee was having trouble in making the other man go away from there. When everything was straightened out, they started the count all over again at 'o'ne.'

Not the Same

But, as Flynn pointed, the system did not run 100 per cent through the evening. When Tunney scored his knockdown in the eighth, Barry didn't hesitate a second.

"One," he started almost while Dempsey was in midair. I guess the boy forgot his text book that time.

However, when you get right down to it, the loss of the fight must be laid at Dempsey's door, not at the referee's nor the timekeeper's, nor at Tunney's least of all.

The latter was quite right within his rights all the way. He was waiting for the referee to say "nine" and, when he did, Tunney got up. It didn't make the slightest difference to him whether or not nine thousand seconds had elapsed, all told. He was waiting to hear the nine-count.

Blew His Chance

In an early paragraph, the writer said that Dempsey "probably" would be champion today if the fight had been fought in New York. He meant only probably, too. For Dempsey clearly blew his great chance after Tunney got up and, therefore, might do well to forget the referee and remember himself.

But, in a New York ring, Tunney would have been forced to get up nine seconds after he went down. No one with any judgment doubts that he could and would have done it, for he was beginning to lose his doll-eyes at four and was ready to arise at seven. Yet, getting up at nine is different than getting up a 14 or 15, and it is possible, almost probable, that that difference would have meant the end.

GIANTS IN THIRD PLACE AS PIRATES AND CARDS ADVANCE

Cubs Are Definitely Eliminated When They Drop Two to Pittsburgh

BY LES CONKLIN

New York, Sept. 26—A three-cornered tie at the finish loomed today as a possibility in the hot National League race as the rush down the stretch began. If the Pirates take three out of five while the Giants and Cardinals win all their six and five games respectively, the three contenders will end the season with the same percentage and a play-off will be necessary.

Although New York played a scoreless tie with Brooklyn yesterday and dropped to third place while Pittsburgh and St. Louis were winning doubleheaders, the Giants can not yet be counted out of the race. The schedule from now favors them, as they play Philsdelphia and Brooklyn while the Cardinals and Pirates must tackle the Cubs and Reds.

This morning Pittsburgh is two games in front of the Cardinals, who lead the Giants by half a game.

New York's scoreless tie with Brooklyn yesterday will be played off on Friday and Saturday, and if the Giants win they will nullify the advantage which the Cardinals hold over them at present. Yesterday Dutch Henry and Jess Petty waged a brilliant pitching duel, and when darkness halted the festivities at the end of the seventh only five hits had been made in all.

Thirty thousand fans saw the game and 15,000 more were turned away. Mounted police were called to drive an overflow crowd off the field.

The Cubs, who had won five straight, were definitely eliminated from the race when they dropped two games to Pittsburgh, 2 to 1 and 6 to 1. Aldridge, who allowed only four hits in the opener, won his own game with a single. Kremer stymied the Cubs in the nightcap.

The Cardinals drubbed the Braves twice, 4 to 1 and 6 to 5, and advanced to second place. The Braves kayoed eHnihart in the nightcap, but old Pete Alexander stopped them cold.

Jimmy Beckman, a Cincinnati sandlotter, started on the mound for the Reds and was given a thorough shellacking by the Phillies, 8 to 3.

Ruth and Gehrig went homerless as the Yankees lost to Detroit, 6 to 1.

Washington scored its fourth straight triumph over St. Louis, 10 to 0, and Cleveland drew close to fifth place by swamping the White Sox 10 to 1.

Marion Eagles Win 9 to 8 From Swinehart Tires at Lincoln Park Yesterday

Locals Take Lead in Fifth Inning Only To Lose and Regain It in Ninth; Ewing, Akron Star Pitcher, Is Driven from Box

A ninth inning rally in which two runs were shored across the plate enabled the Marion Eagles to win 9 to 8 from the Swinehart Tires of Akron at Lincoln park yesterday afternoon.

The Tires got an early lead with four runs in the second and then two more in the fourth. With two in the second and four in the fifth the Eagles tied up the score and drove the Tire's star pitcher, Ewing, from the box. Price's trip around the bases in the seventh gave the locals the lead only to lose it in the ninth when the Tires drove in two.

Emerson Wild

When the Eagles came to bat for the last time the Tires' substitute pitcher, W. Emerson, was unsteady and hit Rowan and Bacon, the first two men up. Price flied out and Pine singled to right scoring Rowan and tying the score again. Cornoy flied to left field. Good also flied to left but the ball was dropped and Bacon scored.

Good, on the mound for the Eagles held the pitching honors for the day. He struck out eight and walked only two, while Ewing and Emerson struck out five and walked four. The visitors garnered 11 hits however to eight for the Eagles.

Sharrock Coming

Price, Eagles center fielder, suffered a heart attack while playing his position but was revived in a few minutes and finished the game.

Manager Bacon announced yesterday that he would have Sailor Sharrock here next Sunday to hold down first base. Sharrock has been playing all summer with the House of David and has just completed a southern tour.

The Mansfield Yunckers come here next Sunday for the second game of the series with the Eagles. The Yunckers won the first game 7 to 5 here two weeks ago.

WHO'S GOT 5c?

Any Man With One Nickel Can Buy Himself a Cigar That's Mild, Sweet, and Satisfying From First Puff to Last

Any cigar smoker can afford to invest one nickel to try out a new smoke. But many men are afraid of five-centers. They've had hard luck with them.

But the inside, ground-floor fact is that there's an amazingly good smoke on the market at five cents today. Not an experiment, but an old-time brand that's been satisfying critical smokers for thirty years. It used to cost more than a nickel. It sold so well that the manufacturer first reduced the price, and then bettered the cigar. Now it's selling in the millions.

The name of this smoke is Havana Ribbon. It is made of ripe tobacco. It is mellow, mild, and fragrant. Give it a chance. Invest five cents in Havana Ribbon. We know you'll join the smoke-wise men that swear by this satisfying cigar.

"SARAH, STAY SLENDER!"

Within 10 years few houses will be built without gymnasiums, and all the equipment necessary for keeping bodies slender. This is the prediction of Marjorie Dork, "slenderizer," of New York City, who maintains that competition in the business world of women will bring about that condition. PIRACY CHARGE HELD AGAINST AMEERICAN

Instance in Bahamas Has Created "Serious Situation," Consul Asserts

Washington, Sept. 26 — Piracy charges brought by the British authorities in the Bahamas against Charles H. Nestle, an American, as the result of the seizure of liquor in British territorial waters have created a "serious situation," the state department was informed today by the American consul at Nassau.

A further complication has been added by the existence of a secret agreement which was privately negotiated a year ago between Brig. Gen. L. C. Andrews, former dry chief, and British colonial officials.

Nestle, according to the consul, has confessed that he was aboard a coast guard vessel when on Sept. 9 the crew of the ship stopped and searched an American rum runner a mile off Gun Cay, which is British territory. A cargo of liquor was found, the consul said, but the record showed that this liquor was not seized by the coast guard officials. Nevertheless the rum was removed and when Nestle was arrested a few days later some of it was found in his possession.

The Bahamas authorities are pressing their piracy charge against Nestle on the ground that he was not privileged to be aboard the coast guard vessel under the terms of the understanding reached with American officials. Presumably this has reference to an unwritten agreement.

SHOVEL SUIT BEING HEARD

Judge Scofield Reviewing Action Against C., D. & M. Electric Co.

The suit of the Marion Steam Shovel Co. against the C., D. & M. Electric Co., in which the plaintiff seeks to require fulfilment of a contract under which the C., D. & M. furnishes electric power for the shovel company's plant, came up for hearing before Judge Scofield in the court of common pleas today.

In its petition the Marion Steam Shovel Co. alleged that because of failure of the C., D. & M. to carry on terms of the contract as agreed upon, factory operations are handicapped at times. It was charged that power is shut off occasionally, thus intertering with plant operations.

Following filing of the petition several weeks ago, a temporary injunction was granted restraining the C., D. & M. from shutting off the power at any time.

Granted Divorce

Henry M. Phelps, plaintiff in a suit for divorce against Lucille Phelps, was granted a decree by Judge Scofield, Saturday.

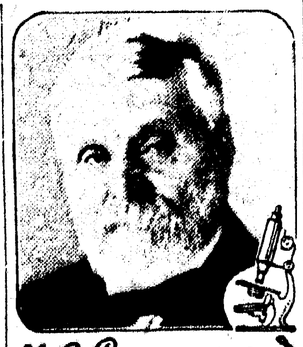
What Dr. Caldwell Learned in 47 Years Practice



Dr. Caldwell watched the results of constipation for 47 years, and believed that no matter how careful people are of their health, diet and exercise, constipation will occur from time to time regardless of how much one tries to avoid it. Of next importance, then, is how to treat it when it comes. Dr. Caldwell always was in favor of getting as close to nature as possible, hence his remedy for constipation, known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a mild vegetable compound. It can not harm the most delicate system and is not a habit forming preparation. Syrup Pepsin is a pleasant-tasting, and youngsters love it. It does not gripe. Thousands of mothers have written us to that effect.

Dr. Caldwell did not approve of drastic physics and purges. He did not believe they were good for human beings to put into their system. In a practice of 47 years he never saw any reason for their use when a medicine like Syrup Pepsin will empty the bowels just as promptly, more cleanly and gently, without griping and harm to the system.

Keep free from constipation! It robs your strength, hardens your arteries and brings on premature old age. Do not let a day go by without a bowel movement. Do not sit and hope, but go to a druggist, and get one of the generous bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Take the proper dose that night and by morning you will feel like a different person. Use Syrup Pepsin for yourself and members of the family in constipation, biliousness, sour and crampy stomach, bad breath, no appetite, headaches, and to break up fevers and colds. Always have a bottle in the house, and observe these rules of health: Keep the head cool, the feet warm, the bowels open.

We would be glad to have you prove at our expense how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can mean to you and yours. Just write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, and we will send you prepaid a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE.—Adv.

LARGE BARN SAVED FROM DESTRUCTION

Carl Gillispie Extinguishes Blazing Chaff; Marion Department Summoned

Prompt discovery of a blaze prevented the destruction of a large barn at the home of Carl Gillispie, three miles north of this city on the Hilman-Ford shortly after eight o'clock last night. Fire Chief McFarland with several men from the central station and the pumper from No. 3 station, responded to a call from the Gillispie home, but the fire had been practically extinguished before the arrival of the department.

Gillispie said he happened to go into the yard when he saw smoke issuing from the barn. He investigated and found a small blaze on the floor which had started in a small pile of chaff. Securing a bucket Gillispie started to light the blaze, calling his family to notify the city department. The source of the blaze is a mystery, Mr. Gillispie said, as no one had been in the barn for several hours. No damage resulted.

VICTIMS OF MENTAL DISEASES INCREASE

Enumeration Rises From 218 to 226 Per 100,000 Population

Washington, Sept. 26—Increasing at a rapid rate since the war, 178,353 victims of mental diseases were under institutional care in 30 states Jan. 1, the bureau of the census announced today.

In four years the mental hospital enumeration increased from 218 to 226 per 100,000 population.

First admissions to mental hospitals last year in the states surveyed showed an increase of 7½ per cent over 1925, numbering 30,956 patients, who had not previously been under institutional care.

Census officials explained that first admissions gains were only slightly greater than the general increase in population. The larger figure, both of admissions and hospital population, possible were attributable to better medical supervision and consequently to more extensive hospital treatment of this type of disease.

In proportion to the population there were a greater number of first admissions to mental hospitals in the District of Columbia than any other state with 121 to the 100,000 inhabitants. This, it was learned, is chiefly due to the fact that many veterans of the World War, are committee to government mental hospitals here.

In Florida, California, Oregon, Delaware, Illinois, New York, and New Hampshire rates of the first admissions were well above the average.
